Mapping the Critical Path: IFSWF Annual Review Launch

23 May, 2019, 08:00 to 10:30

PwC
7 More London Riverside
London
SE1 2RT
United Kingdom

The International Forum of Sovereign Wealth Funds is launching our annual review, Mapping the Critical Path, at a breakfast event on 23 May 2019 at 08:00 at PwC, 7 More London Riverside, London, SE1 2RT, UK.

The review uncovers some surprising trends that shaped sovereign wealth funds' investment in 2018. The IFSWF annual review – the first revealing all SWF direct investments in 2018 – shows that SWFs:

- Returned to the private markets
- Accelerated their investments in early-stage companies in disruptive industries;
- Backed companies providing new urban mobility solutions;
- Developed novel partnerships and co-investment structures.

We will also be joined by Eugene O'Callaghan, Director of the Ireland Strategic Investment Fund, Will Jackson-Moore, Global Private Equity, Real Assets and Sovereign Funds Leader, PwC and Bernardo Bortolotti, Director, Sovereign Investment Lab, Bocconi University for a panel discussion on SWF Partnerships in Private Markets.

To secure your place, please contact Victoria Barbary vb@ifswf.org

Agenda

08:00	Registration and light breakfast
08:30	Welcome • Duncan Bonfield, CEO, IFSWF • Will Jackson-Moore, Global Private Equity, Real Assets and Sovereign Funds Leader, PwC
08:45	Mapping the Critical Path: SWF investment trends in 2018 • Enrico Soddu, Head of Data & Analytics, IFSWF
09:00	Panel Discussion: Partnerships in Private Markets • Eugene O'Callaghan, Director, Ireland Strategic Investment Fund [TBC] • Will Jackson-Moore, Global Private Equity, Real Assets and Sovereign Funds Leader, PwC • Bernardo Bortolotti, Director, Sovereign Investment Lab, Bocconi University Moderator: Victoria Barbary, Director of Strategy & Communications IFSWF
10:00	Q&A
10:30	Event close

With thanks to:

pwc

Università Commerciale Luigi Bocconi